SATURDAY, JULY 1, 1899.
An Indiana man says he has discovered how to make gold. The fact that he wants to sell the recipe shatters the belief in his statement. For he surely could not get for it anything different to what he claims he can make for himself without appealing to any one.

The man who in an outburst of patriotism is in the habit of going to the window on the Fourth of July and firing off a shotgun or revolver should see to it right now that his weapons are only charged with blank cartridges. The national holiday never passes by without somebody being shot as a result of the carelessness of a fool with a gun.

It is becoming more and more apparent right along why the Spaniards were so anxious to retain Cuba. Despite the fact that only during the last few months a settled condition of business has prevailed in Havana, the balance sheet shows a surplus of $500,000 for the last fiscal year. No wonder Weyler became a millionaire while he had the Cuban purse strings under his control.

Now that the Omards have increased their holdings of best sugar lands in this State, all the States this side of the Rockies that possess soil adapted to best culture have awakened to the fact that there is big money in the business. The State of Washington, for example, is encouraging setting out land to the crop by paying a cent a pound bounty for all best sugar produced in the State, provided that $1 a ton has been paid for the beets. California has got the start of them all, though, in that business, and as our farmers are alive to the situation and are setting out a larger average each year, they are likely to remain in the lead.

THE "FOREIGN VOTE"
The question, "Is there any danger from the foreign vote," that came up for discussion at the Good Citizenship meeting at the Baptist Church, Thursday night, is one to which the most meagre consideration will prompt a negative reply. Under our conditions of citizenship there can, in the first place, be no such thing as a "foreign vote," for a residence of five years in the country is one of the prime essentials of naturalization, unless the applicant arrived before the age of eighteen, in which event he is qualified to become a citizen after reaching his majority.

Our system of government, too, absolutely precludes all possibility of danger from excessive foreign immigration, as everything is decided by the majority vote of the citizens of the nation, and at the Presidential election in 1896 14,073,235 ballots were registered at the polls. The proportion of voters to population is, therefore, about one to five, so it can be seen that no matter how great the influx might be from other countries, the balance of power must always necessarily remain in typical American hands. We are growing up, too, as a people. Four and five generations of American-born citizens are by no means infrequent nowadays, and this percentage is, of course, being continually increased as the years roll by. A century from now there will be so many native Americans in the country that those born in other lands will scarcely enter into the calculations at all, as is apparent must be the case in the natural order of things.

As a further argument, it may be said that if no evils resulted when we were a young nation, and immigrants were pouring in upon us at a rate that made them almost numerically equal to ourselves, nothing need be feared now, when wholesale immigration has been checked and our own people have sprung up in millions throughout the land. It is as well to remember, too, that the restrictions upon immigration are gradually becoming more and more severe, a property qualification having been imposed, and an educational one being under consideration. Contract laborers have been eliminated from the list, the Mongolians have been shut out, and it would not be surprising if ere long the barriers were put up against the Japanese. With all these arguments at hand, it is easy to see, therefore, that a "foreign vote" can not menace us in any way, for we have our affairs in such shape that none can have anything to say about them but ourselves.

THE ROUNDER.
I hear that Councilman Louis Schaffer is not feeling any too kindly towards Councilman Peter Taylor. You know Mr. Taylor forgot to invite Louis to that banquet for Councilmen the other night. They tell me that Mr. Schaffer will not soon forget the slight. Louis must remember that Councilman Christone was not invited to be present.

A prominent newspaper man yesterday made a bet of a $10 hat with a prominent Councilman. This is the bet: Councilman—If bet that within one month Mayor Snow will vote for M. K. Miller as Street Superintendent. Newspaper man—If bet that Mayor Snow will never vote to re-elect M. K. Miller as Street Superintendent. I have made a request to assume the newspaper man's bet.

Oakland has a "Bryan engine," or, as it is sometimes popularly called, a "silver-dollar locomotive." It's on the run between here and the Alameda mole, and its number is 1021. "Sixteen-one" Patrolman Frank Lynch has dubbed it.

Craigie Sharp, secretary of the Oakland Board of Trade, sold to Monday Quil-Eit "Every drop of blood in my body is patriotic. Why, I'd go to Manila tomorrow, if I could, and fight these half-educated tribes." As Craigie Sharp weighs over 200 pounds, the spectacle of him pursuing a band of Tagal warriors in July is a sad one.

W. M. Kent, the Twelfth street merchant, is disposed to make use of a new wrinkle in trade. "Bully," you know, was a power, and is of account yet, in Republican politics in Oakland. He favors having a saloon open to the public as is Salterman's chair stand. Such a rivalry, he says, is ought to be a success from the start. Folks drink in full view at parties and in restaurants, and why not, argues he, let a wife have the pleasure of seeing her husband drinking his elbow in a saloon as she is passing by on the street. She can learn then what company he keeps.

The names of the gentlemen who have orated at the base of the Washington monument in our country's capital are perhaps treasured in some minds, but probably not one of them is recollecting by any of us denizens of Oakland. This thought appears to the fact that Henry A. McViney is to be the Haysian Marc Anthony at our Fourth of July demonstration. As he stands like Heracles did at Pompey's statue in Rome when Julius Caesar fell, and was the nation's chief orator at the peak far above the cross-trees, how small, by comparison, will he feel, but the words he utters, which have a sense and eloquence will inspire, may cause Harry to take rank as a modern Patrick Henry.

HONOR TO SOCIETY
WHAT HAS OAKLAND SOCIETY DONE FOR CHARITY?—
MRS. IRA BISHOP.

Mrs. Ira Bishop of Twenty-fourth and Orchard streets is a prominent member of society. She has always taken a great interest in charity. She gives away to the needy large sums of money every month. She looks after all her own people, believing that in her cases the aid can best be accomplished by personal effort. Mrs. Bishop does not belong to any of the charitable institutions, but her work in this direction is well known and appreciated.

WOMEN WHO WORK
MISS MARIE KAYS, CLERK.

Miss Marie Kays has been employed in the fancy department of Kahn Brothers' store for a number of years. She is considered an excellent saleswoman and has given entire satisfaction to her employers. Miss Kays has the reputation of having excellent taste in all kinds of fancy goods. This quality has particularly recommended her for the position she fills. Her work is not hard. She takes a great interest in her work.

STREET CAR MEN.
DAVID HUGHES, GROVE ST. LINE.

For seven years David Hughes has been a conductor on the Grove street line. He is 32 years of age, married, popular and in love with his business. He is older than he appears. He stands well among his associates and has been honored by their confidence. He is the second oldest man on the line. He is secretary of the Carriers' Social and Benevolent Association. He was the manager of the hall given by that society in Feed's Hall. He was given charge of the last entertainment, but was unable to serve. He takes pleasure in experimenting with electricity. His home can be lighted with that fluid from batteries set by himself, and a telephone line of his own makes possible conversation with two of his neighbors in their homes.

FOR POLICEMEN.
FRANK J. GREENWALD, PATROLMAN.

Frank J. Greenwald is one of the roundest and, at the same time, oldest member of the police force. The records of the department show that he is 63 years of age, though he is unwilling to admit that he has yet passed the fifty-fifth milestone in the journey of life. There are some of his brother members who incline to the idea that Mr. Greenwald is over 70 years of age. Be that as it may, Greenwald is not too old to appreciate a good thing, and he will continue to display this attitude until his superiors in the force and Police Commission see fit to take action in his case. Mr. Greenwald has been married twice and seems to enjoy life. He has been on the police force for the last sixteen years and is a popular officer on his beat.

A FEW WORDS OF ADVICE TO THE NEW CHIEF OF POLICE.

TO CHIEF OF POLICE ST. CLAIR HODGKINS—Chief of Police Hodgkins, Oakland salutes you. Today, St. Clair Hodgkins, you take command of the city's police force. You, a young man and officer, succeed one of the oldest. You step into the shoes of Chief W. T. Fletcher, who at the end of a long and creditable term of service, retired on a pension of $57.50 a month. Oakland parts company with its old Police Chief with good will. It greets the new with good wishes. The task before this young new Chief is a high and worthy one, but it is not an easy one. His record and his character justify the expectation that he will prove equal to it, if afforded a fair chance. It is an arduous as well as a creditable undertaking to essay to bring such an organization as the Oakland police force up to an ideal standard of efficiency, purity and serviceableness. Doubtless this end can be achieved by the new Chief, if he shall be permitted to do so in every way unhindered and unimpeded. There must be neither push nor pull. This important executive officer must not be constrained nor embarrassed by any member of the Police Commission. He must be able to make his own decisions. He owes no obligations, except his own to the public to make it most efficient use of the forces and the resources at his command for the protection and the safe conduct of this community. Efficiency and competency, not charity nor good fellowship, must be the watchwords of this service. If Chief Hodgkins is to make a success of it. If he enters on this service with iron on his legs and on his wrists, he will, despite any ability he may have, make a sorry failure of the work. THE TRIBUNE and the people of Oakland bespeak a demand for Chief of Police Hodgkins the conditions essential to his success in the performance of this important trust.

Story From Life
About a Girl Lost in a Foreign Land.

The ticket agent at the Twenty-third street station was surprised to find that by a young woman approaching the ticket window and without a word, holding appealingly before her astonished gaze a card on which was written, "Girl—got brother 23d ave." The agent's first impression was that the girl was lost and dumb. So she began a spirited fantasia on her fingers. This served to evoke a torrent of valuable Norwegian from the young woman, who had just arrived from Norway or the overland, and doesn't know a word of English. The agent speculated wildly in a frantic attempt to convey to the girl the idea that she hadn't the slightest notion of what she was saying, and about what she wanted of her, anyway. Her calisthenic exercises served to excite the mirth of the bystanders, but didn't seem to enlighten the young woman particularly, who, with evident suspicion of her sanity. The situation was growing critical when the agent had on a demonstration. She rushed across the street with the card to the office of S. S. Austin, the real estate man, who in turn sent for O. Nielson, a Danish shoe-maker. Mr. Nielson interrogated the delirious girl in her own language, and the way her face lighted up with joy was something delightful to see. Mr. Nielson knew his brother, and the overjoyed girl was soon among friends.

WILL CELEBRATE THEIR 19TH ANNIVERSARY.
Taft and Pennoyer's Achievements in Oakland Since 1880.

THEIR SPLENDID SUCCESS.
The large dry goods firm of Taft and Pennoyer, at the corner of Fourteenth street and Broadway, the most prominent street corner in Oakland, are about to celebrate the nineteenth anniversary of their existence as a firm. Since they started business on the 1st of August, 1880, Mr. Taft having been in business three or four years previous to this. Their beginning was in but a small way, carrying a modest line of general dry goods. By practicing economical methods and studying the individual wants of their customers their name soon became a household word in the city. Sound business principles were applied to the conduct of every department. Year by year the trade grew. Each year the volume sales and the receipts have increased, and with it the increase in the size of the stock, until now they occupy the immense store space with basement of 100 feet on Broadway and 150 feet on Fourteenth street. Their latest addition has been the millinery department, which has proven a success. They were obliged to increase their store space to make room for their ever increasing stock, until they were obliged to even take the floor above the store, which was connected with the main floor by means of an elevator. After six or seven years this was found to be inconvenient, and in the summer of 1888 the large corner at 14th and Broadway street was secured and the upstairs was dispensed with. Uniform courtesy and a fine dissemination of the tastes of their customers soon became apparent in the early history of the firm. People began to trade with them with confidence in their upright dealing, and new customers came from San Francisco to trade with this, the largest dry goods house in Oakland, and larger than many in San Francisco. Twelve years ago Mr. Taft came to New York to make his purchases, and he is accompanied each time by two representatives of the departments. He is now in Europe making purchases, which he will complete for the next season upon his arrival in New York. Two representatives of the firm will shortly go to New York to select cloaks, dress goods and millinery. Besides these purchases large orders are given direct from the house to the representatives of European firms and American manufacturers, who visit them annually. Without question this is the leading firm in this country as regards selection, quantity, quality and fitness of the stock which they carry for their trade, and it is not to be exceeded even in San Francisco.

EXPANSION
At Aydelotte's Business College.

This widely known and popular local institution is right on the heels of its opportunity. Expansion is the watchword at this progressive institution. Workmen are again enlarging the quarters occupied by the college in Koller & Chase Hall, at the corner of Broadway and Twelfth streets, adjoining room formerly occupied by the Briggs millinery establishment. This change gives the college large additional space on the second floor. It provides more commodious rooms for the college counting house and banking department. This is the advanced department and the large attendance of the past

MEETING OF THE

BLIND HOME DIRECTORS.

The Board of Directors of the Home for Adult Blind held a meeting last evening.

Attorney Charles E. Snook appeared on behalf of H. Lindemeyer to try and enforce the payment of a claim of $35 for boarding a well. Mr. Snook was told he would have to take the claim to court.

Ex-Superintendent Hays was requested to return $30 in a trust fund.

Mr. Hays says the money was spent on the blind.

Contracts for the next three months were awarded to the following for supplies:

Coal—Seattle, Wellington and Rock Springs to James P. Taylor.

Tea, Coffee and Chicory—All to New York Tea Company.

Meat—Beef, mutton, sausage, liver and lard all to M. J. Samson.

Butter—To Joseph Herscher.

Meats and Flour—To Joseph Herscher.

Croceries—All to Joseph Herscher.

A claim of J. H. Herscher amounting to $55 for articles supplied the Home a few days before the old Board retired was voted on the grounds that none of said articles were on hand when the new Board took possession.

Mr. Herscher was positive the goods had been delivered and President Irish told him he had better inquire of the old Board what had been done with them.

JACOBS AND CO'S

NEW DEPARTURE.

A. Jacobs & Co., the well known merchant tailors and gents' furnishings, 1121 and 1123 Broadway, corner Thirteenth street, have been remodeling and refitting their store. The improvements made have been in hand work, and they now have one of the grandest business places in the city. The occasion of these improvements has been the addition to their stock of a large and well assorted line of hats of the latest styles from the best known manufacturers. They have always been known to be leaders in their stock of shirtings and furnishings, and will certainly uphold their reputation in their new venture. Their grandly finished place of business is well worth a visit.

She Was Pale as Death

Miss Cordelia Moore, of Malone, N. Y., until recently, has been a life-long invalid from palpitation of the heart and weakness of the blood.

Physicians were puzzled over her case, their most skillful efforts were baffled. Various remedies were tried without avail. The proverbial "change of climate" was advised, but the constant change wore upon her until, to quote her mother's words, "she became a living ghost." Miss Moore said: "Upon advice of a friend I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and before the first box was used I noticed a great change. I began to regain my appetite and felt better generally. After finishing the first box I took six more. The effect was wonderful. I grew strong and gained in flesh. I never felt better in my life than I do now. I weigh more than ever before and I consider myself cured."

From the Gazette, Malone, N. Y.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, scurvy, neuritis, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of the grip, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, and all forms of weakness either in male or female.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are never sold by the dozen or hundred, but always in packages. At all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., 60 cents per box, 6 boxes $2.50.

THE PUBLIC WILL BE BENEFITED.

It was an unfortunate occurrence for J. C. Smith & Co., that their stock of clothing, gents' furnishings, goods and hats were damaged by smoke from the recent fire at Schinor's Bazaar, corner Ninth and Washington streets. The firm had just finished a large stock prepared for a large sale that they had in contemplation. These had reached the store but a few days before the fire. Messrs. Smith & Co. have now therefore a more severe loss than what it would have been had it not been for the fire. What has proved to be their loss will be the public's gain, for they have marked down every article in their store far below any price a few days before the fire. Messrs. • Star Spangled Banner •

BY FRANCIS SCOTT KEY.

Oh! say, can you see by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we haied at the twilight's last gleaming—
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming!
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there;
Oh! say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

By EDWARD A. O'BRIEN of Tribune Staff.

“Where are you going to spend the Fourth?”

Ask the question in the fruit-filled town of San Leandro; in the embowered hamlet of San Lorenzo; amid the pyramids of glistening salt and acres of golden grain of Mt. Eden; in the wreaths of gardens fair of Centerville; on the vine-clad hills enclosing Irvington and Mission San Jose; on the pastoral slopes of Moraga Valley; in the bustling streets of Danville; on the peerless upland the forge and work-bench of Newark; in the din of locomotive whistles; at Niles; ask the question even in Oakland and you will be amazed at the frequency of the reply:

 "I am going to pass the day in Haywards."
 It was said, at one time, of the naughty mistress of the world, that she had a thousand husbands.

only be said, though in lesser degrees, and with a more ennobling purpose in view, on Tuesday next, at Hayward. Along the thoroughfares leading to the inland gem of Alameda county, go no manacled prisoners bound to the ear of a conqueror. On the contrary, they will be thronged with hosts of freemen on a pilgrimage to the shrine of patriotism and liberty.

Before that altar, they will re-mature years, to this, the land of their birth or adoption and, with fervor, oblate themselves to transmit to their descendants the living principles upon which the nation is to be maintained forever.

 It is a host of Haywards' leading citizens that the town has never sought anything in vain. We all tion to San Francisco last summer meant traditionally "good enough for a prince" he was compelled to journey to Haywards. The spirit which achieved success in these respects, animates the present movement. It led to the formation of a program which, in variety, has never been excelled in the county. It will be a revelation, but, it is, at the decade when Oakland shall have become a city and a county. There will be bands which will recall the best efforts of Sousa and Gilmore. There will be a float symbolical of the Union, each State being represented by a little girl, with the bluish of a mountain peak and the radiant glory of an angel. Fragmentary bands accompanied by grand officers will appear in line, and a host of them going from Oakland old men who faced rebel shot and again shoulder the musket and show

A cavalcade of ladies upon pal-fair equestriennes and display such horsemanship as has not been seen since riding became almost a lost

Queen Victoria's Great Endurance.

Duke's followers persist in making out when he is in Brussels or Turin has caused a great deal of trouble to the respective governments.

Extraordinary interest was taken in the sale of the Marlborough gems by the Associated Press at the time. Three of the most costly cameos were sold for 2,500 pounds; one of Augustus, for 2,550 pounds; a Claudius Caesar, 3,750 pounds and a pair of Imperial heads, 3,000 pounds.

Tullius, for 1,500 pounds.

The artist had already cashed, realized 34,750 pounds, or within 25 pounds of what David Low paid for the entire collection.

SENATOR HANNA IN LONDON.

Senator Hanna is attracting much attention in the London papers. The "American King-maker" is what the Daily Chronicle styles him. In regard to the Presidential prospects, the Senator states that he is not a card shall, perhaps, be able to tell you who will be the next President. That is about all most anybody could say. But as to Admiral Dewey, why I think it is pretty safe to say that he is likely to walk on the carpet.

The papers publish with all earnestness a story of Senator Hanna's visit to the city of London. He was caused. He was taken to the House of the Senator's visit to the Commons, saying he was "merely applying the standard of Washington to Westminster." Hearing, however, understood by those familiar with the scandals of Congress that he put the question quite seriously.

PEACE CONGRESS A FAILURE.

The news from The Hague is regarded as quite discouraging. Senator-elect Dr. Chauncey M. Depew, talking with a representative of the Associated Press, voiced the general opinion of observers, saying: "I am sorry to be obliged to think what a practical man told us would be the case, that the peace conference will most probably end in failure at present."

Very probably, it is said of reviving the warring interest threatening to bury him in oblivion, the sportsmanlike and suspiciousness with which he withholds even the simplest information about the Shamrock. Sir Thomas Erskine, not a member, has assumed a coat of arms of his own device, based on his business career. Erskine has had adopted two "horrid bands" in flower and gold, a tea plant, he and the other a coffee blossom. The shield bears a lion and a mermaid, a live land, and a thistle, in commemoration of the fact that he started in trade in Scotland. His motto is "Labor Conquers All Things."

Emperor William of Germany is said to be a great admirer of the Shamrock. He has "closely, though

The birth of a third daughter to the Czar and Czarina is regarded as an event of great political importance, because a strong party in Russia was only awaiting the event to resume its mischievous intrigues against the hated Princess of Angli-German blood.

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES.

The book publishing season is now practically over. No book of importance will be issued for another two months. The successful writers are already preparing for the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Parker start for Carlsbad early in July, and Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) and his family go to Sweden.

Mr. Clemens, while in London, has been much interested in the movement of a Swedish doctor, and he is going to a remote town in Sweden to take the regular Swedish cure.

A limited edition of Mary Twain's writings, which Chas. & W. Windsor will publish, consists of twenty-two volumes. They will be especially illustrated, and will contain matter not included in any previous collection of his works.

Anthony Drexel has taken Lord
Amphill's seat, Norrie Castle, Newcastle-on-Tyne, for the yachting season.

The Clyde shipping returns for the past six months beat all records.

One hundred and twenty-five vessels, aggregating 234,877 tons, have been launched and over six months' full work is still on hand.

An interesting order was issued this week to the Governor of Prisons to the effect that all convicts undergoing penal servitude who have not passed the third standard in education must be relieved from labor for one hour daily, to be devoted to instruction until the convict is able to pass the examination.

JAMES RAMAGE FOR LICENSE COLLECTOR.

James Ramage, City Marshal of Haywards, has been appointed License Collector of Alameda county. County Treasurer Barker made the appointment today. Mr. Ramage, has been a prominent citizen in Haywards for many years. The appointment could not be improved upon.

New Notary

Frederic A. Campbell has been appointed Notary Public. His bondsmen are J. A. Wood, L. C. Cole, J. A. Hill and J.
Bonham. The bond is for $5,000.

ALIVE JOINED THE NEW CANNING TRUST

Articles of incorporation were filed yeterday by the California Fruit Canning Association. Among the companies which have joined the combine are the following located in this county: King-Mor Canning Company, plant at San Leandro; California Fruit Preserving Company, plant in this city; Oakdale Fruit Preserving Company, plant in this city and Milpitas.

The combine represents seventy-five percent of the fruit canning industry of the State.

THE MERCHANTS GIVE THEIR VIEWS.

this but they find it difficult to do so, inasmuch as it is the ladies who are the ones who mostly follow this practice and they are hard to educate in economic matters. The thousands that they send away would give employment to many and make property values much movement and keep it up that will be the best way to get the goods here. The merchants ought to unite in a movement to get the goods here. J. COHEN, Merchant Tailor and Gentleman's Furnisher: "In our line goods are sold at a higher price here than in San Francisco, largely because the trade is regular and not transient. We are obliged to give the customer the best value for his money. Their money is here to retain their trade. In San Francisco they do not care as they may never see their customer again. I believe that this holds good in every line of business. If the merchants are encouraged by some patriotic sentiment to sell at a lower price, I believe still lower prices will rule."

—CRAIGIE SHARPE, Secretary of the Board of Trade—"You can put me down as being a strong advocate for home trading. The probability of every community being able to supply its own needs is a thing that is done there. The recirculation of money in a locality is what counts."

A. CARASL, Fruits and Vegetables—"I buy everything for family needs here in Oakland and insist upon my family having the best of the goods that are there. I depend upon each individual business to supply that of his neighbor, although business in my line does not suffer much from outside competition."

W. H. GARD, Gas, Light and Heat Company—"You can put me down in argument as strong

As you know how that I am in favor of fostering home industries in trade. Every dollar that is spent in home industries goes to the benefit of the community. Every dollar that is spent in the mercantile industry, gives the banker more faith in the matter of credits which makes money easier. It advances the prices of commodities. It makes the dollar less valuable. It creates opportunities for the wage earners. A community can only be prosperous when its wage earners are employed and those who send their money out of the community are not. The mercantile man, speaking, rob the laboring and clerical forces of the community of the opportunity to gain a livelihood."

Victor J. Chase, a well-known Congressman from Wisconsin should be told that he can build up the community in which he lives. He is further and say that the merchants should patronize home manufacturing industries. The people of this city are thousands of others who are ready to make it a rule that these be made of the merchants of Oakland. If the people would in-crase the purchase of postage stamps it will increase the mail facilities. This would give the city greater prestige. Architects and contractors as far as they can ought to purchase all that they can on this side of the bay. Alameda county is one of the richest in the State and ought to encourage the business of the State. It is a business that it has. Every thing possible should be done to create and stimulate the same industries and merchants. Alameda county ought to support three times the number of business enterprises that it does now. It is one of the most fertile and rich far enough ahead. Oakland and Alameda county have a great commercial future.

A. JONAS. of the Jonas Clothing Company, can hardly be in sympathy with the merchants of this city, who are making any movement that will tend to educate the masses to trade at home. We have just as enterprising merchants as can be found in any other country. Their goods are of the same quality and sold at the same low rate of manner. Prices rule on the average lower than they do in San Francisco and every inducement is offered to have our people trade at home, but many say that the merchants of this city are decidedly wrong. They should be taught a lesson, for their own success and that of their neighbors depends on their changing their methods. If this can be accomplished, Oakland will go ahead by leaps and bounds.

H. C. CAPWELL of the Lace House—When all things are equal we only ask for trade. Give us the opportunity and we will demonstrate that all things are equal. We have no monopoly, and we have no house in the fund. All we ask for is the opportunity to prove the truth of this assertion. We know that prices are, generally speaking, lower here than they are in any other city, and that is our line, but it is so with all the reputable firms. However, we know that the public is becoming aware of this for we find that customers are gradually beginning to shop with us. With us you can find everything in shopping in San Francisco. Uniform courtesy, good wares, and honest values will win the day.

R. W. SNOVY, Mayor of Oakland—The subject of home patronage is one that has concerned the people of our communities in every locality throughout the land and it was the successful solution of this problem that made the large cities of the middle West. The people in these cities religiously practiced at home, a good business and the citizens of Oakland. In comparison to the amount of goods handled here

I am surprised at the small tonnage that is handled by the ferry companies for our merchants. We are a comparatively new and growing community. I believe that the city has a great future. It will develop in the near future a great amount of shipping. Balfour, Guthrie & Company no doubt realized this when they laid the corner stone by building their ware houses on the water front. Every have survived. This is not true. There can be but one idea on this question in the minds of thinking people which is that the success of every city or town depends up on inter-trading on the part of the local citizens. A man could say a great deal on this subject for where there would be one argument against it there would be a hundred in its favor. If Orlandais is to grow the people there must help to make it grow and not sow their seed on outside soil.

HUGO ABRAHAMSON, of Abrahamson home trading, this would enhance values and build up business of all kinds and as the volume of trade increased, others would come here to seek for a share of the increase.

THOMAS SMITH, Capitalist—I have lived here for years and have watched the progress of trade and my expression is that the women are at fault. They are the ones who must be educated. I know from my own experience with the women of my own household. It took me years to get the idea of trading in San Francisco no other chance, a much needed holiday. (Signed)

GRANT OUT OF IT NEWS OF THE COUNTY.

No Truth in the Reports That He Is Still in Senatorial Fight.

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—All the talk that has drifted up from Los Angeles this week about the possibility that Grant will re-enter the Senatorial campaign can be dismissed as a yarn intended for the "merit" for there is absolutely nothing more to it than that some of Grant's ex-employees are endeavoring to keep a back of the fire-light turned upon themselves.

Grant is not a candidate nor will he be one. That is a statement that can be accepted in its entirety, for although the San Francisco adobe to his old system of dealing to be interviewed, there are those qualified to speak for him, and they know what they are talking about.

Milton Green, for example, knows Grant's plans. If anyone does. He was the reorganized manager of the San Francisco campaign, and that he did not take the title to himself without authority was shown by the fact that up to Green's office door in the Crocker Building appeared the name of "C. S. Grant" in the very place where that of "Green" would be printed at the time of and subsequent to the campaign's completion.

There are some people, by the way, who think that Green irretrievably ruined himself as a politician manager when he told the Howard Wright story to Sam Locke of the Call and thereby unmasked himself of a secret in a way that many declare brought disaster to Grant's cause. Since the politicians had back from San Francisco and have had time to cover the situation, however, it is not so much a secret as it once was, and it is not so much a secret as it once was, and it is not so much a secret as it once was.

There is the situation. Among the Grant legislators were many "fast" men, that is to say, men who were not so much interested in the public good as in their own pockets, and who were perfectly willing to do anything to get the Grant nomination. It was for this reason, it is said, that Grant was not elected.

ALAMEDA.

ALAMEDA, July 1.—The Alameda Recreation Club has disbanded. The organization was intended to furnish ideal quarters for young men where they could pass away idle hours in a pleasant manner. The apartments were fitted up at a cost of about $1,500. Of this debt, about $1,200 was paid. About that time there was a lack of interest displayed in the undertaking. Members dropped away and the society was inadequate to pay the expenses. At the last meeting, at which the disbandment was decided upon, the members present, raised $100 toward defraying the indebtedness.

PARADE, JULY FOURTH.
On Tuesday next, the Fourth of July, Company G, National Guard of California, will hold with Company F, N. G. C., and take part in the procession and observance of the day in Livermore. Company G has purchased a new flag which it will give to the breeze on that day for the first time.

WACHENDORF LIVED HERE.
Dr. C. J. Wachendorf, who has been charged with poisoning his wife, resided in this city in May of this year. He became known as a very eccentric character. He took room in Park Row and announced to some people whom he met that he was a victim of the drug habit. When he emerged from his room he was emaciated and appeared to be a wreck. He made a tour of the physicians' offices in search of medicine. Showing diplomats and credulous ones he had once been a physician in good standing. He was later found soliciting aid and was arrested as a vagrant.

BERKELEY.

BERKELEY, July 1.—Robert Carter, who has the contract for grading Telegraph avenue, is in more trouble. A couple of weeks ago there was a dispute regarding the location of the dedication of the avenue, and at one time it looked as though Carter would not be paid for his work. Yesterday a complaint was filed in Justice Bolger's court charging him with obstructing a water course. It seems the contractor had difficulty in draining the earth he took from the avenue, so he proceeded to dump it in ditches and hollows. One of these ditches was a water course in South Berkeley. The complaint was filed by C. W. Webb. It is understood that if a conviction is secured, other complaints will be filed.

COLLEGE REGISTER.
The University Register will soon be ready for distribution. It shows that the number of students is 2,438 and there are 3,000 instructors. Hereafter the register will be issued as a quarterly bulletin, as the postage will be cheaper.

YOUNG LIFE ENDED.
Fritz E. Larson, the 7-year-old son of Fritz Larson of South Berkeley, died yesterday at the East Bay Sanitarium. He had been suffering from typhoid fever. The funeral took place this afternoon.

WOMEN QUARREL.
Hannah Noble of West Berkeley was arrested yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace of Anna Boudreau. She was accused of quarreling with Boudreau and will be tried next Saturday.

PAYS FOR ITSELF.
The new court is one of the town's paying departments. It was established one month ago and has cost $125 for the Justice's salary in addition to stationery, etc. The receipts for the month of June, however, were $100, which paid for the month's expenses. The Justice's salary is $100 per month, and the stationery is $25 per month.

MEASURING SOCIAL.
A measuring social was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Francis Robinson. A very enjoyable time was had.
